

My work expresses moments of quiet reflection and concentrated emotion. The ideas for my compositions are cultivated and produced in the rich surroundings of northern New Mexico, inspiring unique and intuitive work. The hand pulled prints, paintings and textiles are a communion between myself and the medium by building multiple layers of color to achieve dimension and a translucent quality. My images are created in trancelike concentration driving the movement of color and form that becomes the art.